This month we are going to be doing Skype once again, and we may add in a bit of Google Chat for good measure. Skype is a video and call over the internet service, and Google Chat is the same. It's a lot of fun when you can chat with someone face to face. Hopefully this will be a fun presentation, and you will learn how to use this popular program. All it takes is a web cam, which is built into many laptop computers and a headset for sound. See you in March.
